Indian steelmaker Mukand Limited has been awarded the prestigious Green Steel certification, marking a significant milestone in the company's sustainability journey. The certification, awarded by the National Institute of Secondary Steel Technology (NISST), recognises Mukand's black bars with a 5-star rating and its wire rods and bright bars with a 4-star rating. According to Mukand, the certification recognises the Indian steelmaker's continued efforts to adopt environmentally responsible manufacturing practices and reduce its carbon footprint.
